

June 17, 2010

As junior high students, you will be required to read at least two novels of your choice over the summer. Keep track of the titles and authors, and as the end of the summer nears, let your creativity blossom. Design an attractive way to inform everyone about the books (and authors) you read. These will be shared. Examples may include: posters (small), original book jackets, or creative drawings. A short summary of each book is also required (about 10 sentences).

For a complete listing of recommended books with brief synopses, go to www.ala.org or call me for a printed copy.

Have a wonderful summer. Curl up in the shade and read!

Connie Norwood

(Please detach)_____

I am aware of my child's summer reading assignment.

Signed _____